THEY PLAY TONIGHT

The Davis Leather and Military Camp teams of the Newmarket Hardball League meet tonight, Thursday, June 4, in a game at the Stuart Scott school grounds.

This will be the first meeting of the year for last year's champions, the Military Camp, and their opponents in the finals, Davis Leather.

The game starts at 7 p.m.

Monday night's game between the Office Specialty and Military Camp was postponed because of wet grounds and will be played at a later date. There will be games every Monday and Thursday during the summer months.

DIGNITARIES START IT, SPECIALTY FINISHES IT

"Just like the big leagues," was the expression to be heard over at the Stuart Scott ball park on Thursday evening, when the town hardball league opened.

With lucky number programs, and about 500 people on hand, only things missing were the peanuts. And, of course, the ten cents admission charge was more appealing. The play was good, surprisingly good, considering the little practice the boys had had. In fact, everybody at the game got a good evening's entertainment.

Opening ceremonies saw "Atty" Davis throwing the ball, Gordon Manning batting and Colonel R. B. Harkness catching. Mayor Dr. L. W. Dales officially opened the league with a short speech in which he congratulated the hardball league executive for their work in getting the league going with little encouragement and less money. The town band played "The King" and the two teams.

The Davis Leather team went down in the first two innings without scoring a run or getting a hit. But in the Specialty half of the first, Evans got a single, Hilton got a walk and Banks came through with a single to score two runs. In the second the Office Specialty had two hits by Smith and Dixon but was unable to score a run.

The game was suspended.

Called to investigate the cause of the death of Charles F. Davie, Barrile, on a C.N.R. crossing just north of Holland Landing on May 15, a coroner's jury at Sharon on Monday evening brought in a verdict of accidental death, when the car in which he was driving was struck by a special C.N.R. train that was travelling at 45 to 50 miles an hour.

Dr. J. H. Westley, Newmarket, was the coroner. N. L. Mathews, K.C., acted for the crown. The jury consisted of W. L. Bosworth, foreman, Fred Thompson, W. M. Cockburn, Aubrey Thompson, and Irwin Tate.

The jury excused the train crew from any responsibility. An important recommendation was made by the jury that all municipalities should pay more attention to the visibility at railway crossings, such as the shrubbery that partly obscures this particular crossing.

Witnesses included Dr. L. W. Dales, Newmarket, who performed an autopsy. County Constable Ronald Watt, Provincial Constable Alex Ferguson, B. A. Budd, Newmarket photographer.

John Bellar, Holland Landing, testified that he saw the motorcar drive on to the crossing in front of the train and that the front-headlights did not go on. S. R. Goodwin, Holland Landing, said that he had been talking to Mr. Davie a few minutes before and that he was expecting the train.

Charles E. Robinson, Barrile, train engineer, and J. W. Ireland, fireman, said that they were not aware of the car until they felt the impact.

The Davis Leather team went down in the first two innings without scoring a run or getting a hit. But in the Specialty half of the first, Evans got a single, Hilton got a walk and Banks came through with a single to score two runs. In the second the Office Specialty had two hits by Smith and Dixon but was unable to score a run.

The game was suspended.

In the third the Davis team scored a run on a walk to Gould and then Brown scored him by driving out the cleanest single of the night. The Specialty went down one, two, three.

In the fourth two errors by Brown put Preston and Gibney on third and second but the Specialty was unable to score a run. In the fifth the O.S. men went down in order again. During these three innings Peters, the Davis pitcher, registered five strikeouts.

In the meantime the Davis team had gone ahead in the fourth when Cain got a walk, was advanced to third on Bill Haskett's single and both were scored by Cain's single.

In the fifth inning for the Davis team, Cain got a hit and then Smith, the Specialty pitcher, in a wild streak walked Peters, Cain and Bill Haskett in succession to force a run. In the sixth Wright was safe on a bunt and Cain got to first on an error but neither one crossed the plate.

In the seventh Cain came through with a single between first and second after putting a foul ball out of the park. Bill Haskett struck out and then VanZant singled on a line to centre field but Cain was thrown out at the plate. George Haskett ended the inning by grounding out.

In the eighth inning the Specialty scored two runs when Neufeld got a single and Banks came through with a double, the only extra base hit of the night. Banks then scored on an error.

This left the score tied in the seventh, and that's when the Specialty won the game with a last-inning rally. Smith batting for Dixon got a single, Gould came through with a single, then Graudock batting for Evans grounded out. Hilton drove the ball out to right field for a hit which Bill Haskett tried for but just couldn't get his hands on. Final score was 6-6.

In the fifteenth Cain came through with a single between first and second after putting a foul ball out of the park. Bill Haskett struck out and then VanZant singled on a line to centre field but Cain was thrown out at the plate. George Haskett ended the inning by grounding out.

In the sixteenth inning the Specialty scored two runs when Neufeld got a single and Banks came through with a double, the only extra base hit of the night. Banks then scored on an error.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

"The purpose of this agreement to amalgamate the two businesses is to carry on a printing and publishing business, and in particular to publish an independent weekly newspaper, that is to say, a newspaper which, while striving to report all viewpoints as the publisher and editor may judge matters worthy of space, shall not owe any allegiance to any political party, or any other group or individual, and shall be free to criticize or command any political or other party or group, government, or individual, within the bounds of fair comment, as occasion may arise in the opinion of the publisher and editor."—FROM AGREEMENT TO AMALGAMATE THE EXPRESS-HERALD AND THE NEWMARKET ERA.

NOT EQUALITY BUT LIBERTY

A business man complains that his plant facilities are not being utilized by the "bits and pieces" program. The reply is made on behalf of the department of munitions and supply that the purpose of the "bits and pieces" technique is not to divide up war business among business people but to produce the goods. A large factory farms out work only to speed up production, and not to share the business, and so it sends its work where it can be done most economically and most efficiently. The answer seems sound.

Likewise, the question as to whether conscription or the voluntary system of recruiting soldiers is fairer should have little bearing on the decision as to whether or not Canada is to have conscription for overseas service. As the purpose of the bits and pieces program is rightly not to make an even distribution of war benefits, so the purpose of conscription should not be to secure an even distribution (among the relatively small eligible group) of the responsibilities of war. The only justification for conscription can be that the government thinks it will produce more soldiers or better soldiers than the voluntary system, and that the "more" (if that is the cogent reason) soldiers are more needed in the armed forces than in industry or agriculture. If the voluntary system will contribute more to the winning of the war, then it is to be preferred, even if a majority of people consider it less fair.

It is to be feared, however, that our thinking on the question of securing soldiers is not so clear as our bits and pieces thinking. The department of munitions and supply is out to get the job done, let the bits and pieces fall where they may. The departments of war services and national defence seem more concerned with questions of justice and equal distribution of burden. This is well illustrated by the adoption of the lottery system for calling up men for home conscription. The lottery system is the antithesis of "compulsory selective service." The latter system would select soldiers and leave men at their lathe or plow according to ability, aptitude, inclination, training, experience and relative usefulness. The lottery system takes for a soldier a skilled

YORK PIONEERS OMIT PICNIC BECAUSE OF WAR

In 1918 the York Pioneer and Historical Society purchased and restored the temple at Sharon, which was erected in 1825 by the sect known as the Children of Peace, together with several acres of land surrounding it. Every year since, the society has held a public meeting there, regularly held on the first Saturday in June by the followers of David Willson, founder of the sect.

Due to conditions brought about by the war, the society has decided to omit the Sharon gathering from its program this year.

(For six years three weekly newspapers in Peel and one in Dufferin have been running my non-partisan columns dealing with the activities of each parliamentary session. I regard it as a high honor now to be invited by the editors of The Newmarket Era and Express to contribute my weekly column to their splendid new paper. I hope my readers will find some interest in reading week by week from my amateurish pen the comments which I have to make concerning the doings of Canada's wartime parliament.)

In pre-war sessions, economy in governmental expenditure was a favorite topic. The demands from every quarter for speed and still more speed in placing Canada on an efficient wartime footing have somewhat submerged the old cries of "cut down the expense." It arose again, however, in the house the other day when Opposition Leader Hanson and Saskatchewan's John Diefenbaker precipitated a fiery debate over the alleged failure of the government to lop off some non-essential costs. Mr. Ilsley grew warm under the attack and pointed out that oppositions always censure the bulk items of expenditure and then call for more generous treatment of individual items. However, this verbal thunder shower may not have been without value. The public doesn't object to the expenditure of tremendous sums of money to ensure our survival as a people, so long as the maximum value is secured for every cent spent. That is true economy.

The rich oil deposits in Alberta have hit the "limelight" in the house of commons. Party lines were pretty well shattered by the time Hon. T. A. Crerar got half-way through piloting his bill, which attempted to ratify an agreement between Mr. Aberhart's government and the dominion administration. It had to do with oil leases which had been granted by the federal authorities before Alberta took over these resources in 1930. Manley Edwards, Liberal M.P. for West Calgary, joined forces with Messrs. Hanson and Bence in the opposition to protest against the legislation. They claimed, among other things, that the Alberta government wanted to put a higher tax on the wells and were not sure that they had the legal power to do so, hence the arrangement via this bill to make it possible. It was quite clear that Mr. Edwards was, to say the least, not entirely in sympathy with Mr. Aberhart's policies nor with this legislation. Canada's duty seems clear. If our war effort isn't what it ought to be, let's bring it up to an all-out position at once, and if it is satisfactory, let's get the story across to our American allies before any more opportunities arise to question our contribution to the United Nations' cause. In any event, the bill stands over for further consideration.

The senate has 15 vacancies, all caused through death. Recently Hon. Dr. King, who was formerly a cabinet minister, and who now is government leader in the red chamber, was made a cabinet minister again. The Liberal party is strong on Kings. It is customary for the government leader of the senate to enter the cabinet. He takes the late Senator Dandurand's place. Speaking of vacancies in the cabinet and senate, it is interesting to recall two quick reliefs made by the prime minister a few days ago. Douglas Ross, M.P., of Toronto, queried him as to when he intended to fill the senate vacancies. Mr. King replied that Mr. Ross' desire to be made a senator would receive the government's consideration. Queried also by Mr. Liguori Lacombe, M.P., who left the Liberal ranks some weeks ago, as to when the cabinet vacancies from Quebec would be filled, the prime minister stated that if the honorable gentleman desired to know what his chances were of being included, he could readily say that they were "very slight indeed."

The government's policy on wartime housing has provoked considerable discussion. The problem of finding reasonable housing accommodation in areas where there is a concentration of people engaged in war work had to be faced by the government. A government-owned company known as Wartime Housing Limited was set up to administer the policy of speedy home-building in areas where the greatest need arose. The criticism in the commons of the program mainly centred around what some members felt was an excessive cost for this type of temporary accommodation. The debate seemed to me to be somewhat inconclusive in character, but information was given the house that since the inception of the program, 6,027 houses have been authorized and 3,300 have been built to date. These houses are rented by the corporation to war-worker tenants, and it is apparently the intention to salvage them when the war is over.

DOWN THE CENTRE

Milton Tigers held a gala set-to at Milton on Thursday last and having obtained permission from the company O.C. to miss parade with the Yorks we made the trip to the Halton county capital. Mayor T. S. Dawson of Milton, just back from the mayor's conference at Ottawa, took us in tow and we had a head-table seat next to Ross Clemens, president of the O.H.A. The banquet was in Knox Presbyterian church Sunday school and was a pipperoo. The viands were of the choicest and so far as rationing was concerned nobody knew anything about the word, and, believe me, brother, those Milton laddies are real trenchermen. The no-smoking rule was in force and the boys took their oratory without a fag. It was trying for a bit to forego the after-dinner habit but finally nobody missed it very much. The speeches were brief and to the point.

Walter Hayward was about the happiest man in Canada when he saw his boys get their reward from the O.H.A. prey, Hayward, a pudgy good-natured chap, has been general factotum of the Milton club for quite a few years and it was his night to howl.

Milton farmers were on hand to get their takings for winning the all-Ontario and senior rural titles and Jim Waldie, their headman, wore grin as big as a water-melon cut in two. King City were their final-round opponents.

Presentations were gold medals from the O.H.A., smart grey suede windbreakers from the club and leather billfolds from the town. The farm team got the Johannes cup, and the Downing trophy, and billfolds but no medals or wind-breakers.

Cofell and Murphy of this year's club are already on active service. Cofell is with the Lorne Scots and Murphy with the R.C.A.F. Scherzer, the big Hungarian lad who has been booked for Boston Bruins, is farming and still in the pink. He will play with either Guelph or Kitchener next winter. Ormole Carter will play for Bradford next year, while the rest are undecided. Roberts, the good forward, had to have a bone in his foot broken after the season to rectify an injury he received during the winter and he was on crutches at the banquet.

The O.H.A. president said: "We have a lot of headaches but the end of the season brings a lot of joy to those who have won. We face serious days ahead and the future for hockey is grave. We will carry on some way, but, remember, two years ago we had 25,000 players registered in Canada. This year it is down to less than 13,000. The difference is largely made up of boys on active service. After all, however, hockey is nothing compared to the big game we are in."

He told of gifts of money to the Red Cross, the troops, and the kids, and urged the towns to carry on in sport if only with the kids. Privately, Mr. Clemens told us he expected the senior series would carry on as usual, with Kingston forced to play in the east with Belleville and others. The junior A series he thought would find Kitchener, Stratford, Hamilton, Brantford, Guelph and St. Catharines all playing in one group with fairly easy transportation available. All but the Brants and Guelph were in B last year. Oshawa and the four Toronto teams would play all by themselves with the winners meeting.

No competition was expected in many of this year's intermediate and junior C groups. In fact, the latter will probably fold up for the duration. Ross has been in hockey for years and has been on the O.H.A. executive for 12 years. Dinty Moore of Port Colborne will succeed him in the chair next year. More military teams are looked for and the matter of transportation for them is not as serious as for civilian clubs, with station wagons and government gas available.

Ago change will likely come, it was felt by several present, although Mr. Clemens didn't say so. Understand the juvenile league will raise its age limit and perhaps junior O.H.A. will be raised to 21 years of age.

The local group seems finished. Oakville was represented and along with Milton felt it would be impossible to carry on as last year, although both were well stocked with players. We missed brothers Scruton and Stukus of the Etobicoke tribe but nobody shed any tears over the fact the Markham gang weren't on hand. In fact, if they had been, in the session which followed at the Milton Inn, with the mood of brothers Turner and Hayward as they looked backward over the season, it would probably have been just too bad. One of the best fanning beers for some time was enjoyed until it was time to have a look-see at Glen Allen's orchestra and the bevy of pretty girls for which Milton is noted. It was a night we won't forget for some time.

"Joint" McComb is playing softball for West Toronto Aces in industrial and has already had a turn on the mound as a relief hurler. He was the player best remembered by Milton fans from the days when Aurora took Milton in the finals.

Ernie Worley, veteran hockey referee, is umpire-in-chief this year in Toronto's only amateur senior league at Earls Court park. Little old partner, Hofmehow, he is busy nearly every night. Only difference is, Kippy is still on the way up and Ernie's going down the ladder. Last year he coached the winners of the Toronto senior series. He is well over 50 and so, considering everything, does a pretty fair job of things.

Jack Campbell, hard-hitting Sunderland hardballer, is located in Toronto now and has earned himself a regular place with Lou Walker's senior club. The former Bradford boy has lined up a club that looks as if it will go places and he made no mistake in getting Campbell.

Harold Cook, brother of Earl Cook and who played ball for Stouffville for many years, and

PINE ORCHARD

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Allen of Bothwell spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Russell Allen.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Lundy returned home this week from Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Foote, Dorothy and Harold and Mrs. Preston and Grant, of Aurora, race came up last week only two other entries were ready to oppose. Ten to Ace in a three-year-old test, so the officials called the whole thing off. Guess they'll have to bonus the Ace's opponents. The same thing happened a few days ago. On Wednesday of last week, the Ace reeled off a half-mile in 46 2/5 over a dead track.

More and more, it is becoming apparent that, given a real fast track, and pressed by opposition, two items he hasn't experienced yet, he may well prove the fastest horse on the continent and that includes Alsab and Whirlaway too. We know three people who are of that opinion, including the veteran Nipper Rowe, jockey Charlie Smith and George "Hack" Wilson, who has been playing the ponies for quite a few years and it was his night to howl.

Milton farmers were on hand to get their takings for winning the all-Ontario and senior rural titles and Jim Waldie, their headman, wore grin as big as a water-melon cut in two. King City were their final-round opponents.

Gerry Widdington, the former Pickering college master, now with the R.A.F. at Kingston, brought two British rugger teams to Riverdale park on Saturday.

We had a brief look at them and the English lads are pretty fast and hairy. The game itself, however, after seeing Canadian rugby a bit hard to understand and while exciting enough and apparently fairly rough doesn't hold the continued suspense or seem to be as machine-like as the Canadian game.

Widdington broadcast the play as he did last year at Varsity stadium and one thing is sure, Gerry is creating a good deal of interest in rugger. He is also doing publicity work for the R.A.F.

Mickey Smith gets his medical for the navy this week, and all being well (and there shouldn't be much doubt about that) he will be training as a stoker soon. There has been no more popular or likeable lad in softball, hardball, hockey and cycling than the Newmarket lad and he has served faithfully and well with the Queen's Yorks the past few years.

"Mutt" Collings, recovered from his ailments, is back with the army again and stationed at the Toronto exhibition grounds, where he is on the artillery staff. Roy, as might be expected, is about ready for a couple of hooks and it should be Corporal Collings any time now. He got a big kick out of showing his old side-kick, Turk Ferguson, the ropes when the latter pulled into the army last week.

Saturday afternoon, after a brief look at rugger, we managed to make Earls Court Park in time to get a glimpse of Toronto senior hardballers in action. We saw a 5-4 thriller. The calibre of ball, we thought, wasn't much better than the intermediate brand of the old York-Simcoe league and the players were a mixture of veterans past their prime and youngsters just coming on. There were only one or two finished ball players.

Murray Allen, bad man of the junior C hockey group, who played defence for Etobicoke, southpawed for the losers and did a fine job. He was relieved by Alex Suleman, a Hebrew youngster who promptly whiffed three batters in a row. Burrell, a right-hander, toiled seven innings for the winners and in that time allowed only one hit, but he was always getting into hot water, so he was replaced by Hal Mingo, a southpaw from St. Kitts. "Field Fly" called umpires Brithwaite and Worley as a lovely Texas leaguer dropped for what was really his team's first hit. It was a good 25 feet back of second and the decision just about caused a riot. The bags were full at the time and none out. Again the umps ran foul of the crowd as a substitute runner came into the game who was not a regular player and the two officials differed until finally they ruled rightly that the player who was coming in not having played before, must replace the other. All in all, he ain't a picklement."

Two weird decisions by the officials, and a sloppy piece of terrain around second base which interfered with the fielding, a note of uncertainty, which made for a more interesting game, was added. It was all unintentional, of course.

About 1,500 fans were on hand and we can recommend the games to those who are in Toronto when Earls Court is operating. Some of the boys playing in the Newmarket town league should be able to pick up a few pointers that would come in handy, for the men handling the four clubs know what it is all about.

Congratulations go to the Newmarket matuballers for being smart enough to persuade George Byers to take over the presidency of the loop. We have no hesitation in saying Byers will do a good job. It will be too bad, however, if as noted above, the league loses their secretary, Mickey Smith. As Andrew H. Brown puts it, "If this ain't a picklement."

It is all about.

POLICE COURT
SLOT-MACHINES BRING
$100 FINE TO TRIO

Pleading guilty to keeping a gaming house, Orville Carstead, Norman Brunt and Robert Brunt, co-owners of a dance pavilion and restaurant, known as Riveredge Park, Keswick, were fined $100 and costs of $12.75 by Magistrate W. E. McIlveen in Newmarket police court on Tuesday. An alternative of two months in prison was given. The three men were jointly charged with the offence. His worship ordered the two slot-machines found on the premises confiscated.

Constable William Hill of the York county police informed his worship that he had entered the premises under the authority of a search warrant and found the two machines. Asked by Crown Attorney N. L. Mathews, K.C., if they were in operating condition the officer stated that they were.

"I put about four nickels in one of them, with no results," he stated. "Later Constable Morton played with it and got two nickels." Asked if any skill was needed in order to win, the witness stated that no skill whatsoever was needed and that all the player needed to do was put the nickel in the slot and pull down a handle. If he got a certain winning combination he would get money out of the machine. He stated that the machine was operated entirely by chance, depending on the revolving drums.

Defence counsel, Arleigh Armstrong, informed his worship that the three defendants had no previous convictions.

"They were badly informed and badly advised when they came into this neighborhood," he stated. "I think they should get a nominal fine."

At this point the crown objected to a nominal fine being granted and said that on a previous occasion when some small business men appeared in the Newmarket police court on similar charges they were given severe fines, as were also the owners of the machines.

His worship explained for the benefit of the three defendants that a third conviction under the same act called for not less than three months in jail.

In police court here last week Norman Brunt was found guilty of selling liquor and sentenced to two months in jail, the liquor being confiscated.

Denying that he had assaulted his housekeeper on the evening of May 31, Richard Thompson, Newmarket, told his worship that she had attacked him with a rolling pin and that he had been called upon to defend himself from her onslaughts. However, in face of the evidence Magistrate McIlveen did not believe his story and remanded him one week for sentence.

According to Mr. Thompson's housekeeper, who laid the complaint, the two of them had been out visiting and had had some beer to drink. When they returned home at about 11 or 12 p.m. the defendant wanted to go out to get some more beer and she told him not to go. She stated that when she went into the kitchen to make a sandwich he knocked her down and hit her with his fists on the head and body.

"He trailed me across the floor to the back door by the hair," the complainant stated. "I went out and called the police." "Did you try to defend yourself?" questioned the crown.

"Yes, I lifted up something to try and hit him," she replied. "What did you pick up?" The witness replied that she picked up a rolling pin.

In answer to further inquiries of the crown the witness stated that she had received bruises on her body, her arms and head. She said that she had called the police on other occasions when Mr. Thompson beat her.

"Your worship, on Sunday morning, at about 2.30 o'clock, I received a call from the last witness," testified Chief Constable James Sloss. "She was badly beaten up. On examining the kitchen I found blood on the floor and all about the place."

The officer told his worship that the former witness told him that the defendant had wanted to get a case of beer. He said that when he arrived on the scene he found Mr. Thompson in an intoxicated condition and that the housekeeper had been drinking.

Asked by the crown if he had been called to the defendant's home on any other occasion, Constable Sloss stated that he has been called several times and that on one occasion the complainant was in such a condition that she had to be taken to the hospital, where she remained two or three days.

"I attended the complainant on Sunday afternoon at the request of the police," testified Dr. L. W. Dates, Newmarket. "She was at home in bed. She was hysterical and suffered from shock. She had two lumps on her head and had bruises on her shoulder and chest. Her nose was bruised." The witness went on to say that the injuries were not serious.

In his defense Mr. Thompson stated: "All I did was defend myself." He admitted drinking.

"Is that why she ended in the hospital the last time?" questioned the crown. Mr. Thompson replied that it was.

Asked if his housekeeper always started the fights, he admitted that she didn't always.

"I think that it is time this thing was stopped," Crown Attorney Matthews told his worship. "It has been going on for some time. I think Mr. Thompson spends too much of his time doing this kind of thing. He used to do it when his wife was living."

"Anyone who assaults his wife or any other female is liable to two years imprisonment and also to be flogged," Magistrate McIlveen warned the defendant. "This has to be stopped. The first thing we know we'll have a murder here."

Charges of illegal possession of liquor against both the complainant and the defendant were adjourned until next week.

Found guilty of being drunk on Eagle St., Newmarket, on May 10, a Newmarket woman was fined $10 and costs or ten days. Her husband, who was found guilty of causing a disturbance by cursing and swearing, was fined $1 and costs of $2.75 or five days.

A fine of $10 and costs was imposed on H. A. Baxter, Toronto, for having an excess catch of perch. According to Constable Ernest Prosser, he had come across the defendant while he was patrolling the Sutton river in Mississauga Park. The defendant was with two other men and they had 38 fish over the limit. He stated that the men are allowed 25 perch each according to the law.

Charged on two counts, with careless driving and not having a 1942 driver's license, John McFerren, Malton, was fined $10 and costs on the latter charge. The former charge was dismissed.

"On May 10, at about 7.30 p.m., on the ninth concession of King township, I investigated an accident," testified County Constable Ronald Watt. "On my arrival I found that the accident had happened at about 6 p.m. and the car had been towed to Schomberg. Tracks were visible for 300 feet. The tracks started on the east side of the road on the shoulder and continued on to the shoulder at the west side and back into the east side and then into the ditch. The top of the car and the windows were smashed."

In his defense Mr. McFerren told his worship that he had been returning from work and that when he had applied his brakes his car got out of control. He stated that his operator's license had been lost.

THAT REMINDS ME

By GOLDEN GLOW.

One thing after another is affected by the war. Some things we laugh about and so make them of little effect, like the cuts on a man's trousers, the flaps on the pockets and no more buttons on the sleeves. Of course, the short skirts were expected naturally, since we had to chop them off in the last war.

We try to make a joke of sugar rationing, and tea and coffee, etc., and when we read in the paper about the lady hoarder and her canned goods we did enjoy the joke on her!

You see, she thought that as canned goods were to go off the market, practically, she'd better lay in a supply. So she did—getting everything from soup to canned pineapple juice—a supply of everything in fact.

She stored them down in her basement. There came bad storm, a burst water main and a flooded basement! Consequence was that all the labels on the cans floated off, and now she has to take "Hobson's choice" or plain "pot-luck" every time she opens a can!

I wonder if I might be allowed a personal experience right here. Not a very startling one, but I haven't forgotten it. One day I was coming home and a friend hailed me to say she was coming along with me.

We were joined by a neighbor of hers, with a good-sized lump of a youngster in a carriage. She decided to come in, too, but said she'd not take the boy out of the carriage, so she wheeled it up on to the side veranda and in the kitchen door.

Presently my groceries arrived and the delivery boy set them on the kitchen table. Presently that youngster set up a howl and was acting as if he was trying to get out of the carriage. I brought out the cookie jar, and offered him a cookie. No sir—he wouldn't look at it, and howled all the harder. His mother looked on quite unconcerned while I offered him this or that, till he got himself into a regular tantrum.

Finally, in desperation, I said to the mother, "Have you any idea what ails him—what does he want?" And to my utter amazement she got up and placed the several cans of vegetables the grocery boy had just brought over where the child could reach them and coolly remarked, "He wants to tear the labels off your cans!"

I gazed at her, hardly believing my ears. But there sat that infant, gurgling away contentedly, working away at the label on a can of green peas. I quietly and deliberately gathered up the rest and put them in the pantry, and when she protested and said "He'll cry again," I simply said, "Well, he can pull all the labels off your canned goods if you let him, but I assure you he'll pull no more than one off for me!" I guess I laughed, and made them a cup of tea to cover up my abrupt answer—I forgot about the after part—but you can imagine I was amazed at that mother's methods of bringing up a family. I recall it this vividly after nearly 20 years, for I understand that same infant is now in the army!

You hear on all sides of substi-toats, corn cobs, parched peas, and so on. And one said wait till the black currant leaves come out, they make lovely tea! What about cat-nip? Isn't that what they used to give babies? Cat-nip tea to make them sleep? I expect I could think of a lot more substitutes if I tried, but what's the good? Pure water is pretty good, hot or cold!

Here's a four-line verse I saw in the Reader's Digest, I think it fits. Excuse the spelling!

For Whom the Belle Peels!
 The girl who incandescent glows
 Where sun and wind have Kissed her,

Is less alluring to her beau's
 When she begins to blister!
